Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 24 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Occasional showers overnight. Windy and unsettled next week.

This Evening and Tonight:
Occasional showers to come through the evening and at first overnight, but these tending to become confined to Pennine areas by dawn. Remaining breezy in places but sheltered locations turning quite chilly. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Monday:
A bright start for many, before a scattering of heavy showers develop by lunchtime. That said, a fair number of places should remain dry. Still breezy and relatively mild. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Stronger winds likely on Tuesday with outbreaks of rain at times through the day. Conditions remaining similar into Wednesday and Thursday. Mild for the time of year, particularly overnight.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.